

Returning Message to Sender

(Mail Hosting: NTT Communications (Thailand) Co., Ltd.)

Mail delivery failed: returning message to sender errors are generally encountered when an intended recipient does not exist on the remote server.

You will normally receive a bounceback message with this error in the subject, and the body of the message should contain the original message that was attempting to be sent.

Credit: inmotionhosting
Last update: 28/10/2016